5 ACTI ONS

The device uses COMPRESSIVE MICROVIBRATION to transmit low freguency vibrations creating apulsed rhythmic action on the fissue. The wave resulting from the vibrations has 5 therapeutic benefits onthe tissue. It provides a wellrounded treatment. initially it restores the normal state of fissues andmicrocirculation and in later stages works on reshaping and contouring the body.

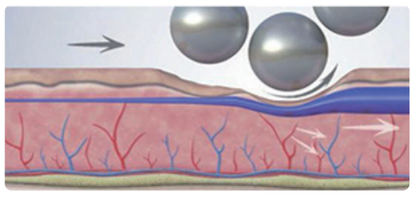

Pain Relief

Compressive Microvibration acts on mechanoreceptors to reducepain and tissue inflammation.It improves tissue oxygenation,reducing painful swelling.

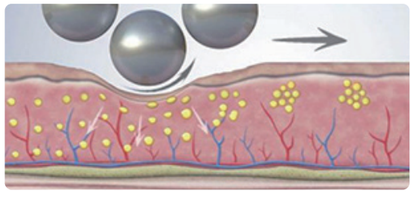

Vascular Action

The honeycomb arrangement of the spheres stimulates the vascularsystem, affecting the blood flow in the tissues. The "vascularworkout" of the tissue improves microcirculation.

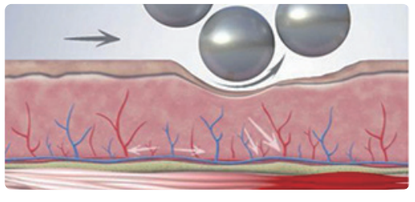

Lymphatic Drainage

Compressive Microvibration uses the rotational movement of the spheresand the direction of the cylinder on the tissue to activate the lymphaticsystem to work correctly. This helps to eliminate excess fluids hat haveaccumulated as a result of poor circulation.

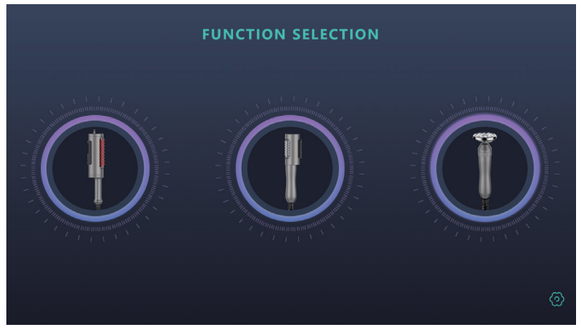

Body Contouring

The oscillations of the spheres create a push pull action whichremodels the tissue. The shape and contour of the body is improvedafter only a few sessions, as well as reducing unsightly orange pee!effect visible on skin.

Muscle Toning

Compressive Microvibration technology tones the muscles as theyactively resist the compression. The vibration stimulates the musclesand can improve tone in the treated areas.
